PUTNAM

Republican Legislators to Meet for Conference—Big Locomotive Back on the Rails—Letter on Putnam from Governor-Elect Baldwin.

G. Harold Gilpatrick of this city, member of the republican state central committee for the 25th senatorial district, and Charles A. Gates of Willimantic, member of the committee for the 26th district, have sent out invitations to all republican senators and representatives-elect in Windham county to meet at the Putnam Inn in this city tomorrow (Saturday) at 11 o'clock.

The gathering is for the purpose of conferring and adjusting as far as possible the interests of committee sections in the next legislature.

BACK ON THE RAILS.
Big Locomotive Pulled from River at North Grosvenordale.

Frayed to what a noted citizen would term a frazzle, the mogul that has been in the river at North Grosvenordale for nearly a week was set back on the rails Thursday morning. All that remains of the machine, aside from the tender, is a bare and battered boiler, resting grossly over the bank into the river, to be buried between a tangle of wrecked cars, was supplied by the crews and the big steam wreckers in their efforts to haul it back on to the rails.

It is stripped to the degree that characterizes the appearance of a picked chicken. The boiler is stripped of the smokestack, pilot and pony truck are ripped off, as are all of the remaining rods, and the boiler is a patch of gnarled splinters, and the movable mechanism is out of adjustment. No. 414 will be remembered as a locomotive that has been in the river since the morning of the wreck.

Two big wreckers completed the task of getting it onto the iron again. The crews went at the difficult task in the hours of Thursday morning. After the Portland express had gone through, and had completed it in a few hours. The early morning passenger trains were delayed by the work, but that was all.

The crippled mogul will probably be taken to East Hartford for repairs. The train of wreckage was at North Grosvenordale Thursday night about ready to be removed, relics of what proved to be one of the very worst freight wrecks that ever occurred on the Norwich and Worcester branch.

GOVERNOR-ELECT BALDWIN
Paid Tribute to General Putnam and Said Nice Things of City.

Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., is making arrangements to fitly observe the 194th anniversary of the birth of General Israel Putnam, born at Salem, Jan. 7, 1718, but patriot of special veneration to Windham county people, in connection with this is of interest to note that in 1896, when Putnam had just become a city and "Souvenir" W. H. Taylor had sent a circular to prominent people throughout the county to send from them messages to commemorate the event, these messages to be used in a special number of the Putnam Home Journal, the following tribute to the great patriot's memory was received from Governor-elect, Simon E. Baldwin, then a supreme court justice:

"New Haven, Jan. 13, 1896.
"Dear Sir:—In response to your request, I would say that the inscription on the monument to General Putnam, which I have just dedicated, is a fitting tribute to his character in these few strong words:

"He dared to lead where any dared to follow."
"No city in New England has a name of which it can be more justly proud than that which has called itself after the true commander of the American forces at Bunker Hill. Yours truly,

"SIMON E. BALDWIN."

I., Liza Brown of St. Hyacinthe, and Mrs. Philip Dracot of Webster, Mass., also his mother. He was buried in North

JEWETT CITY

How Round Hill Got its Name—Ice Cutting at Dorville—General News.

Now that the Round Hill sign is erected at the trolley stop near Harvey Kennedy's, people are wondering whence came the name. The name of Round Hill was given to all the land owned by J. B. Palmer more than 50 years ago because of a 2 acre lot which is very noticeable, being circular in form, and sloping up at all sides towards the center, making a round hill. The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad makes a sharp curve around a part of this peculiar lot.

Cutting Ice Two Miles.
Joseph Roode is cutting ice at Dorville and hauling it two miles to fill his ice house on his farm. This is necessary on account of shortage of water in his artificial pond.

Commended Work in Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade.
A Worcester paper says:

Dr. Melvin G. Overlock, state health inspector of the 11th district, and the originator of the Overlock movement in the shops and factories to stamp out tuberculosis among the employees by the concerns providing for their care and medicines in sanatoriums, was given resolutions commending him and his work, signed by 14,730 employers and employees, the other afternoon, at a mass meeting in Mechanics Hall.

The speakers lauded Dr. Overlock, who said in his address: "For Worcester manufacturers and merchants on this day should be remembered with just pride, for it is the first time in history when any city, and county or any place has taken the steps or attempted to take the steps which you have taken. This movement, inaugurated by David H. Fanning for the manufacturers, by the Hon. W. A. Lytle heading the merchants' list, and by David Scott, heading our list of laundries, is spreading from city to city and from state to state, and ere long I trust from nation to nation."

BALTIC
